Through this privacy statement, your data may be called either “personal data” or “personal information”. We may also sometimes collectively refer to handling, collecting, protecting and storing your personal data or any such action as “processing” such personal data.

For the purposes of this statement, personal data shall mean any information relating to you which identifies or may identify you and which includes, for example, your name, address and identification number.

The present Privacy Statement aims to help you better understand the most recent changes to the Privacy Policy and Cookie Policy and how they may impact you. To fully understand the changes and terms that will govern your use of our “Services,” you will need to read the full Privacy Policy and Cookie Policy.

Collection of personal data

The company shall collect information necessary to fulfil their legal and regulatory obligations for the provision of services and to improve our service to you.

We will gather information and documentation to personally identify, contact or locate you and may gather information from third parties and or other sources which will help us to offer our services effectively.

As a client, you are responsible for the true and accurate information and to keep us informed of any changes in your personal information or circumstance by emailing us at support@ttcm.com.

We are required to evaluate the appropriateness of the financial instruments and suitability based on three basic parameters;

- a) The sources of your income and wealth as well as your financial obligations
- b) Your investment knowledge and experience including your objectives including your knowledge and experience of the financial markets along with your understanding of the risks involved.
- c) Your experience in dealing in complex and non-complex financial instruments, especially your investment and risk attitude as they relate to such financial instruments.

The following is an example of personal data that is required from you:

Purpose of collecting and processing of personal data

Your personal data is used for specific, explicit and legitimate purposes and only as required to provide quality service to you and to comply with applicable legislations as referred to above.

A. For the performance of a contract

The personal data collected from you is used to verify your identity, to construct your economic and investment profile in order to ensure that we provide you with products and services suitable to your requirements, knowledge and risk appetite, to manage your account with us, to process your transactions, to provide you with post-transaction information, to inform you of additional products and/or services relevant to your economic profile, to produce analysis and statistical data which will help us improve our products and services, and for website improvement purposes. These are necessary for the entry into or performance of our contract once signed. We will carry out regular checks to ensure that our systems are working as intended.

B. For Identity Verification purposes

The Company needs to perform its due diligence measures and apply the principles of KYC (Know-Your-Client) before entering a client relationship in order to prevent actions, such as money laundering or terrorist financing, and also to perform other duties imposed by law. Therefore, we collect from our clients' identity verification information (such as images of your government issued national ID card or International Passport, or driving licence or other governmental proof of identification, as permitted by applicable laws) or other authentication information. We are also requesting our clients to provide us with a recent Utility Bill in order to verify their address. Further to this, the Company can use third parties which carry out identity checks on its behalf.

C. For compliance with a legal obligation

There are a number of legal obligations emanating from the relevant laws to which we are subject as well as statutory requirements. There are also various supervisory authorities whose laws and regulations we are subject to.

Such obligations and requirements impose on us necessary personal data processing activities for credit checks, identity verification, compliance with court orders, tax law or other reporting obligations and anti-money laundering controls.

These include amongst others transaction reporting requirements, assessment of the clients' knowledge and experience, FATCA and CRS reporting.

D. For the purposes of safeguarding legitimate interests

We process personal data so as to safeguard the legitimate interests pursued by us or by a third party. A legitimate interest is when we have a business or commercial reason to use your information. But even then, it must not unfairly go against what is right and best for you. Examples of such processing activities include:

- Initiating court proceedings and preparing our defence in litigation procedures,
- Means and processes we undertake to provide for the Company's IT and system security, preventing potential crime, asset security, admittance controls and anti-trespassing measures,
- Measures to manage business and for further developing products and services,
- The transfer, assignment (whether outright or as security for obligations) and/or sale to one or more persons and/or charge and/or encumbrance over, any or all of the Company's benefits, rights, title or interest under any agreement between the customer and the Company.

E. For Marketing Purposes

The Company may use client data, such as location or trading history to deliver any news, analysis, research, reports, campaigns and training opportunities that may interest the client, to their registered email address. You always have the right to change your option if you no longer wish to receive such communications.

F. Transaction Reporting

We are also obligated to regularly report to the respective authorities on the market share products and the services held by client groups, as well as other financial figures.

Who controls and processes your personal data

The company, and any undertakings being a member of our group, agents which we engage with for the purpose of collecting, storing and processing personal data and any third parties acting on our or their behalf, may collect, process and store personal data provided by you.

Authorized Processor

The company may also use authorized external processors for client data processing, based on concluded service agreements, which are governed by instructions from our company for the protection of client related data. The contract is important so that both parties understand their responsibilities and liabilities. The GDPR sets out what needs to be included in the contract which the company has adhered to, the below is not an exhaustive list of the obligations of all relevant parties;

- Such third parties must only act on the written instructions of the our company (unless required by law to act without such instructions);
- Ensure that people processing the data are subject to a duty of confidence;
- Take appropriate measures to ensure the security of processing;
- The rights of Clients will not be impaired in meeting with GDPR requirements;
- The security of processing, the notification of personal data breaches and data protection impact assessments will not be impaired;
- Deletion or return of all personal data as requested at the end of the contract;

Such providers will provide various services as agreed with us.

Third parties will not be promoting our services, products or provide information to clients or potential clients regarding the investment and/or ancillary services and financial instruments that we offer.

We have a regulatory obligation to supervise and effectively oversee the outsourced functions and its obligation to take appropriate measures when it determines that the service provider is not performing the said functions effectively and in accordance with the applicable legislation.

We may use or disclose personal information without your consent only in certain circumstances:

- if required by law or by order of a court, administrative agency, or other government entities;
- if there are reasonable grounds showing disclosure is necessary to protect the rights, privacy, property, or safety of users or others;
- if we believe the information is related to a breach of an agreement or violation of the law, that has been, is being, or is about to be committed;

How the Company treats your personal data for marketing activities and whether profiling is used for such activities

The Company may process your personal data to inform you about products, services and offers that may be of interest to you. The personal data that we process for this purpose consists of information you provide to us and data we collect and/or infer when you use our services, such as information on your transactions. We study all such information to form a view on what we think you may need or what may interest you. In some cases, profiling is used, i.e. we process your data automatically with the aim of evaluating certain personal aspects in order to provide you with targeted marketing information on products.

We can only use your personal data to promote our products and services to you if we have your explicit consent to do so – by clicking on the tick box during the account opening form – or in certain cases, if we consider that it is in our legitimate interest to do so.

Further, you have the option to choose whether you wish to receive marketing related emails (company news, information about campaigns, the company's newsletter, the company's strategic report, etc.) to your provided email address by clicking the relevant tick box during the account opening form.

You have the right to object at any time to the processing of your personal data for marketing purposes or unsubscribe to the provision of marketing related emails by the Company, by contacting at any time our customer support department via the following ways:

a) By Email: support@ttcm.com

b) By post or in person at the Company's Headquarters at: 56 Theodorou Potamianou Aphrodite Court, 4th Floor, Kato Polemidia Limassol, 4155 Cyprus

Period of keeping your personal information

The Company will keep your personal data for as long as a business relationship exists with you, either as an individual or in respect of our dealings with a legal entity you are authorized to represent or are beneficial owner. Once the business relationship with you has ended, we are required to keep your data for a maximum period of five years to meet our regulatory and legal requirements.

If reasonably necessary or required to meet other legal, contractual or regulatory requirements, resolve disputes, prevent fraud and abuse, or enforce our terms and conditions, we may also keep for an additional three years some of your information as required, even after the above-mentioned period.

When we no longer need personal data, we securely delete or destroy it.

Your rights

Rights to Access:

You have the right to request copies of your personal data.

TTCM Traders Trust Capital Markets Limited is a Cyprus Investment Firm incorporated under the laws of Cyprus, which has its principal place of business at 56 Theodorou Potamianou, 4th Floor, Complex Aphrodite, 4155 K. 'TTCM Traders Trust Capital Markets Limited' operates in accordance with the Markets in Financial Instruments Directive ('MiFID II') of the European Union.

Information must be provided without delay and at the latest within one month of receipt. The company will be able to extend the period of compliance by a further two months where requests are complex or numerous. If this is the case, we will inform the individual within one month of the receipt of the request and explain why the extension is necessary.

Can the company charge a fee for dealing with a subject access request:

We must provide a copy of the information free of charge. However, the company can charge a “reasonable fee” when a request is manifestly unfounded or excessive, particularly if it is repetitive.

The fee if applied will be based on the administrative cost of providing the information.

If at any time we refuse to respond to a request, we will explain why to the individual, informing them of their right to complaint to the supervisory authority and to a judicial remedy without undue delay and at the latest within one month.

When information is provided:

The company will verify the identity of the person making the request, using reasonable means.

Right for rectification

When should personal data be rectified?

Individuals are entitled to have personal data rectified if it is inaccurate or incomplete.

The GDPR includes a right for individuals to have inaccurate personal data rectified or completed if it is incomplete. You can make a request for rectification verbally or in writing.

If we have disclosed the personal data in question to others, we must contact each recipient and inform them of the rectification - unless this proves impossible or involves disproportionate effort. If asked to, we must also inform the individuals about these recipients.

How long does the company have to comply with a request for rectification?

We must respond within one month.

This can be extended by two months where the request for rectification is complex.

Where the company is not taking action in response to a request for rectification, we must explain why to the individual, informing them of their right to complain to the supervisory authority and to a judicial remedy.

Your right to erasure;

When does the right to erasure apply?

The right to erasure does not provide an absolute ‘right to be forgotten’. Individuals have a right to have personal data erased and to prevent processing in specific circumstances:

TTCM Traders Trust Capital Markets Limited is a Cyprus Investment Firm incorporated under the laws of Cyprus, which has its principal place of business at 56 Theodorou Potamianou, 4th Floor, Complex Aphrodite, 4155 K. - Where the personal data is no longer necessary in relation to the purpose for which it was originally collected/processed.
- When the individual withdraws consent.
- When the individual objects to the processing and there is no overriding legitimate interest for continuing the processing.
- The personal data was unlawfully processed (i.e. otherwise in breach of the GDPR).
- The personal data has to be erased in order to comply with a legal obligation.
- The personal data is processed in relation to the offer of information society services to a child.

There are some specific circumstances where the right to erasure does not apply and we can refuse to deal with a request

We have a legal obligation to obtain data on you meeting with their regulatory obligations, based on the legal obligations imposed on us, individuals may have no right to erasure, no right to data portability or right to object on the information gathered meeting with our legal obligation under their license to provide financial services.

When can the company refuse to comply with a request for erasure?

We can refuse to comply with a request for erasure where the personal data is processed for the following reasons:

- to comply with a legal obligation for the performance of a public interest task or exercise of official authority.
- the exercise or defense of legal claims.

Does the company have to tell other organizations about the erasure of personal data?

If we have disclosed the personal data in question to others, we must contact each recipient and inform them of the erasure of the personal data - unless this proves impossible or involves disproportionate effort. If asked to, we must also inform the individuals about these recipients.

Your right to restrict processing

When does the right to restrict processing apply?

We will be required to restrict the processing of personal data in the following circumstances:

- Where an individual contests the accuracy of the personal data, we should restrict the processing until you have verified the accuracy of the personal data.
- Where an individual has objected to the processing (where it was necessary for the performance of a public interest task or purpose of legitimate interests), and we are considering whether our company organization's legitimate grounds override those of the individual.
- When processing is unlawful, and the individual opposes erasure and requests restriction instead.

TTCM Traders Trust Capital Markets Limited is a Cyprus Investment Firm incorporated under the laws of Cyprus, which has its principal place of business at 56 Theodorou Potamianou, 4th Floor, Complex Aphrodite, 4155 K. 'TTCM Traders Trust Capital Markets Limited' operates in accordance with the Markets in Financial Instruments Directive ('MiFID II') of the European Union.

- If the company no longer needs the personal data but the individual requires the data to establish, exercise or defend a legal claim.

We may need to review procedures to ensure we are able to determine where we may be required to restrict the processing of personal data.

If the company has disclosed the personal data in question to others, we must contact each recipient and inform them of the restriction on the processing of the personal data - unless this proves impossible or involves disproportionate effort. If asked to, we must also inform the individuals about these recipients.

The company must inform individuals when we decide to lift a restriction on processing.

Your right to consent

Initial registration - In order to create a Demo account or a Live trading account with the company, a person must make an initial registration via the website's registration form, or directly through their Trader's Room and agree with the terms listed in the given Privacy Policy. The Client confirms acceptance of these terms by ticking the corresponding box on the registration form. If such consent is not given, the company cannot process a persons' data, nor provide any services to the person in question.

Cancellation of the initial registration - When a person cancels the registration process and does not complete it, that person's data will not be retrieved by the company and will, therefore, not be saved for further processing in the future.

Declining the option to be contacted via phone - A person always has the right to request not to be contacted via telephone by the company's representative. This request will be saved within the company's internal systems and acts as a separate restriction which we will, of course, respect. The request to not to be contacted via telephone does not affect a client from using our services. Additionally, this does not restrict said person to contact the company by their own initiative.

Your right to data portability:

- The right to data portability allows individuals to obtain and reuse their personal data for their own purposes across different services.
- It allows them to move, copy or transfer personal data easily from one IT environment to another in a safe and secure way, without hindrance to usability.
- It enables consumers to take advantage of applications and services which can use this data to find them a better deal or help them understand their spending habits.
- We will respond without undue delay, and within one month. This can be extended by two months where the request is complex or where the company may receive a number of requests. We will inform the individual within one month of the receipt of request and explain why the extension is necessary, if applicable.
- Where we are not taking action in response to a request, we will explain why to the individual, informing them of their right to complain to the supervisory authority and to a judicial remedy without undue delay and at the latest within one month.

Right to object:

Individuals have the right to object to:

- processing based on legitimate interests or the performance of a task in the public interest/exercise of official authority (including profiling);
- direct marketing (including profiling);
- processing for purposes of scientific/historical research and statistics.

We will stop processing the personal data unless:

- We can demonstrate compelling legitimate grounds for the processing, which override the interests, rights and freedoms of the individual; or
- the processing is for the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims.

Automated decision-making

In establishing and carrying out a business relationship, we generally do not use any automated decision-making. We may process some of your data automatically, with the goal of assessing certain personal aspects (profiling), in order to enter into or perform a contract with you for data assessments (including on payment transactions) which are carried out in the context of combating money laundering and fraud. An account may be detected as being used in a way that is unusual for you or your business. These measures may also serve to protect you.

The Geographical Area of Processing

As a general rule, the client data is processed within the European Union/European Economic Area (EU/EEA), but in some cases it is transferred to and processed in countries outside the EU/EEA.

The transfer and processing of client data outside the EU/EEA can take place provided there are appropriate safeguards in place and the actions are made based on a legal basis only.

Upon request, the client may receive further details on client data transfers to countries outside the EU/EEA.

Other related information

We use appropriate technical, organizational and administrative security measures to protect any information we hold in our records from loss, misuse, and unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration and destruction. Unfortunately, no company or service can guarantee complete security. Unauthorized entry or use, hardware or software failure, and other factors, may compromise the security of user information at any time.

Among other practices, your account is protected by a password for your privacy and security. You must prevent unauthorised access to your account and Personal Information by selecting and protecting your password appropriately and limiting access to your computer or device and browser by signing off after you have finished accessing your account.
